Marriages: Marriages are celebrated in the Church where the bride or groom is registered at. When a man and a woman plan to marry each other, they should contact a priest one year in advance and always before the wedding date is set, and before arranging for the reception hall. The engaged are required to attend a Marriage Preparation Course.

Please note: However, if this man or woman has previously gone through any form of civil or religious marriage with another person, the priest is not permitted to set a date for the wedding until the Bishop's office has been consulted. Questions are often being asked about marriages performed outside the Catholic Church by non-Catholic ministers. These are not valid marriages according to the teaching of the Catholic Church, but many can be rectified by simply consulting with your Parish priest to discuss the available options. Sometimes people make decisions without proper information, so if you wish, please contact your Pastor for details or call the Marriage Tribunal at 416-934-3400 ext 300.

HISTORY OF THE ICON

Devotion to Our Lady of Perpetual Help is a tradition deep in the Catholic faith throughout the world. Prayers of intercession are often asked of the Blessed Virgin.

The icon shows the Blessed Virgin protecting Jesus with her arms around him. Her solemn face isn't looking directly at him, but at us. The two archangels Michael and Gabriel carry instruments of Christ's crucifixion, a lance and sponge, a 3-bar cross and nails. The letters beside each figure identify their names using the Greek alphabet.

The earliest documented history of the Our Lady of Perpetual Help icon is sometime in 1495. People in Crete venerated Our Lady because numerous prayer requests had been granted to those who were devoted to her. A merchant from the island was able to acquire the icon and he brought the painting to Rome and fell ill soon after. His dying request to a Roman friend was to have the painting hung in a church as soon as possible. The merchant's friend didn't fulfill his promise until the Virgin appeared in his dream. She instructed him to carry out the last will of his deceased friend. She appeared to him in two subsequent dreams to persuade him to do so. The Virgin also emerged in his young daughter's dream, telling her that the the Blessed Mother wants to be placed in a church to be shown for veneration. The image was enshrined at the Church of St. Matthew the Apostle in Rome on March 27, 1499. Faithful devotees flocked to the church for the next 300 years.

French troops invaded Rome in 1798, destroying about 30 churches including the Church of St. Matthew. The Augustinian priests in charge of the church were able to hide the image, first placed in the Church of St. Eusebius and later to the Church of St. Mary of Posterula, where it stayed for almost 40 years, mostly neglected.

While the Redemptorists were building a church in Rome in 1853, they discovered that the site of the new church was close to the Church of St. Mary Posterula, where the painting of Our Lady of Perpetual Help used to be. A young priest, who had been a former altar boy at St. Mary of Posterula, remembered the painting's history and its location. The Redemptorists appealed to Pope Pius IX for the image to be returned to the Blessed Virgin's chosen site. The painting was relocated to the Church of St. Alphonsus on April 26, 1866.
